GENERAL BUSINESS

MLK DAY OF SERVICE RECAP: Volunteer Program Manager Morgan Houk said staff has been working hard to rebuild volunteer programs post pandemic. This year's MLK Day of Service at Blakely Harbor Park was one of the first large events staff has been able to host since the pandemic. Bainbridge Island Parks & Trails Foundation, Islandwood, and Sustainable Bainbridge partnered with the Park District for this event. Over 175 volunteers showed up to the event, almost half of which were under 18 years old. Volunteers spread 15 yards of wood chips, planted 125 wildflowers, removed more than 25 yards of invasive species, collected four large bags of trash, and dozens of kids completed native plant scavenger hunts.

INTEGRATED PEST MANAGEMENT 2023 APPLICATION PROPOSAL: Natural Resources Manager Lydia Roush said a variety of different strategies are used to control invasive species including cultural, mechanical, biological, and chemical. The treatment depends on how bad the invasive infestation is, what kind of species it is, and how aggressive it is. In 2022 0.006% of Park District land was treated chemically to control invasive species and broadleaf vegetation in 11 parks. Plants are spot treated individually. In 2023, because Kitsap County's noxious weed coordinator position is still vacant, staff will again have to shoulder the burden of controlling invasive species in parks. MSC: Janow/DeWitt: Approve applying herbicide treatments for noxious weeds on Park District property at known locations and newly discovered locations and follow up treatment as necessary through the spring and fall 2023 application seasons. Commissioner DeWitt said when the integrated pest management policy was established it was required that staff come to the board to make a report at least once a year and to ask the board for permission to use certain herbicides. Commissioner Janow thanked staff for working to keep invasive species under control in parks. Commissioner Swolgaard noted that using herbicides is a last resort.

STEMPER REPORT ON RAY WILLIAMSON POOL: Park Services Superintendent David Harry introduced President and Managing Member Melody Leung of Stemper Architecture Collaborative. Melody Leung said that Stemper has experience with pool buildings built in the 1970's and the team has worked together for 15-20 years. Melody Leung and her team preformed an extensive assessment of systems and created a list of the existing critical conditions for the Ray Williamson pool. The team reviewed the critical architectural, mechanical, plumbing, fire protection, electrical, and structural items found during the assessment. Melody Leung reviewed the risk assessment which is a summation of the critical scope items the team presented and includes the lead time for materials, installation time, life cycle duration, disruption impact on pool, preliminary cost, and a short discussion of the risks and recommendations. She understands there are other discussions happening regarding the Ray Williamson pool, but in the meantime the pool must continue to operate with minimized shutdowns to limit loss of revenue. The next thing to do is determine the primary scope of critical items with preliminary costs of about 2.7 million dollars.

Commissioner Kinney asked if Stemper worked on the pools in Seattle that were in similar shape that have been repaired. Melody Leung said yes, and some were in worse condition than Ray Williamson. Commissioner Kinney asked how long the pool will have to be shut down to address all the critical repairs. Melody Leung said that some of the items will require a shut down and some will not, they would work strategically with staff for minimal impact on programming. A similar pool in Seattle was shut down for 9-12 months, but for that project they were able to divert programming to other pools. Ray Williamson would have to be shut down for an unknown number of months. Commissioner Goodlin said that the report says a seismic review and retrofit is recommended if the building is to be used for more than ten years. A member of the Stemper team said that depending on how long the Park District is planning to keep the building, a seismic evaluation may be recommended as the chance of a more significant seismic event occurring increases with time. Commissioner Janow said that she is concerned about staff and other people who will preforming the work. Commissioner Goodlin asked if there are any conditions considered to present an emergency situation that require immediate repair. Melody Leung said there are no immediate life safety issues.

RAY WILLIAMSON POOL STAFF RECOMMENDATIONS REGARDING STEMPER REPORT: Park Services Superintendent David Harry said staff would like the board to consider the information presented and approve moving forward with the next steps of the project including cost estimating, construction drawings, and extending the contract with Stemper Architecture Collaborative to work on the next phase of this project. He said shutdown periods may be able to be broken down into shorter periods of time but that will extend the length of the process. Executive Director Terry Lande asked if the next step would be to provide a sequential list of the critical items. David Harry said yes, and though it will be a complex thing to figure out, he has confidence in the Stemper team which has a lot of experience with similar projects. Park Services Division Director Dan Hamlin said 1.1 million dollars has already been budgeted in the next three years for Ray Williamson renovations.

Commissioner Goodlin said his concern is that this is a different situation than what was previously budgeted for. He thinks that kind of expenditure, to revive the pool, also needs to be compared to the cost for a replacement pool. He said it is a shame to put money into something that is not serving the community all that well, as it is undersized. If there is anything of immediate concern or that is dangerous that should be taken care of. Commissioner Kinney said that the critical items need to be dealt with. Commissioner DeWitt said that the board needs to know what items need to be taken care of first and a decision needs to be made quickly. Commissioner Janow said the repair of this pool is important and money is already allocated for it. Commissioner DeWitt said he thinks the board should move forward with Stemper to get the critical items prioritized and an estimate of costs. Commissioner Goodlin said he would like to see those items that would have to be addressed even if the board were to move forward with a replacement pool. Commissioner Swolgaard said that if the pool was to be replaced there would still be a commitment to keep the Ray Williamson pool operational during construction. A new pool would not be able to be built without passing a bond measure. Commissioner DeWitt noted that it took five tries to get a bond passed for the Don Nakata pool. The board agreed that staff should move forward working with Stemper on the project.

Quynh-Anh Nguyen said that it is critical to have a pool for swimming as an activity for older people to stay healthy.

Nick Schnee said that it is necessary to have a good aquatic center in the community, he encouraged the board to think long term about at what point it is more cost effective to build a new facility.

Barney Voegtlen said a new pool is needed and he asked the board to think about the costs of maintaining Ray Williamson versus building a new pool and said that the aquatic community can raise the money for a new pool.

Commissioner Kinney said a new pool is not the discussion for tonight, but it can be put on a future agenda.

STAFF REPORT:

Park Services Division: Park Services Division Director Dan Hamlin said that staff had their monthly meeting with the City of Bainbridge Island planning department regarding permitting. Discussions have been initiated regarding creating a park zone in COBI planning. In the bike park preapplication meeting staff learned that COBI would consider the bike trails to be pervious surfaces. The Strawberry Hill Park turf field consultation went well. Schel Chelb Park permits have been received. A new trails technician, Brandan Davidson, has been hired. Senior Planner Perry Barrett's retirement party will be March 17. Senior Planner Perry Barrett said all the paperwork has been submitted to COBI for a bench at Pritchard Park. He is responding to questions from COBI regarding Williams-Olson Park permitting.

Recreation Division: Recreation Superintendent Bryan Garoutte said the basketball hoop that was broken in the gym at Bainbridge Island Recreation Center has been fixed. Ten additional spots for BIRC tennis memberships will be open soon. There have been some issues with parking at BIRC during peak hours, staff is working to address the issues. There is a new tot tennis class at BIRC. A new mountain bike coordinator has been hired. February's middle school dance had about 150 participants which is record attendance. A new pottery instructor has been hired. All-Day Explorer Camp is full for mid-winter break next week.

- Commissioner Goodlin said that he and Commissioner Kinney met with Bainbridge Island School District Board President Mark Emerson about the Aquatic Center lease envelope. Mark Emerson did not see any problem with a similar size pool to Ray Williamson being built in the north parking lot of the Aquatic Center. Executive Director Terry Lande said the challenge is that if a new pool was built in the north parking lot, the Aquatic Center would be down a parking lot as the School District would turn the Ray Williamson pool area into a parking lot for the high school. Commissioner Goodlin said that would be a challenge, but the Coates Design Architects worked to maintain or increase parking places in their 2019 schematic design. X
